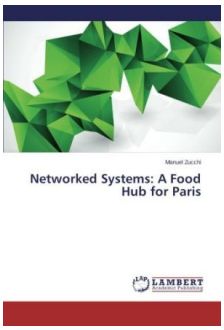
NETWORKED SYSTEMS: A FOOD HUB FOR PARIS



Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Over the last few years themes like urban agriculture and vertical farming became extremely popular within the architectural discourse. Unfortunately these concepts are rarely used as actual guidelines to design buildings or urban interventions. One of the main problems is that traditional architecture is no longer adequate to tackle these issues. This book, therefore, suggests an alternative approach through the description of a project. Performance driven architecture and the usage of computational...
