(without, U. E. L.) You stupid booby - to overturn me within a quarter of a mile of the manor house, and on a road as smooth as a bowling-green, (entering from l. at back.) But there isn t a post-boy left who knows his business - the confounded railways have driven em all off the road, (returning up stage, looking off.) What is the fool after now? Trying to get the carriage up by himself (calling, and pointing to farm) Ask some of the farmer s people there to help you - you great calf! Take care of the portmanteau. I ll make the best of my way to the manor house on foot, (coming down.) Let me see - this, if I don t mistake, is the lodge at the extremity of the park - and, by following the course of the wall, I shall reach the principal entrance in five minutes - unless, indeed, I could get through here, (indicating lodge door, and mike a short cut across. (Lodge door opens) Eh! egad the door opens. Enter Grace from Lodge, with letter in her hand - not seeing Colonel.
