

Faith, Hope and Love: When The World Is Not As It Should Be

By Catherine Draeger-Pederson

Catherine Draeger-Pederson. Paperback. Condition: New. 150 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.3in. Introduction: As a little girl, I remember day dreaming about my wedding day. Like many little girls, my dreams were much more like a fairy tale than a realistic event. I dreamed of a day when a man would sweep me off my feet and commit to be mine, from that day forward in sickness and health, for richer or poorer, until death parted us. I would be dressed like Cinderella at the ball and be surrounded by those who loved me dearly. One thing was non-negotiable: I wanted 1 Corinthians 13 to be read. You know the one. Its typically the exclamation point at weddings, ending with the familiar line, verse 13 Faith, Hope and Love. But the greatest of these is Love. Those three words have been proclaimed as the three pillars of every good Christian marriage. Yet, like many people I know, I would have benefited greatly from a deeper understanding of these words. It would have been helpful to know they were meant for a broader purpose than just weddings; the passage was meant to offer the entire Christian church a way to be...
