The Fruit Conventions, in connection with the Exhibition, were numerously attended and the records show the observation of many facts which will be of great importance to the success of fruit culture in the State. The Executive Committee, in reviewing the Exhibition this year presented, find the bulk of the product is from the basin commencing at Alameda, on the east side of San Francisco Bay, extending round the bay southward to San Mateo, on the west side of the bay. The next greatest product is from the Napa and Sonoma valleys - the greater heat of which had accelerated the ripening and color of what are ordinarily winter fruits. The lesser product was from the valleys of the San Joaquin and Sacramento - the Fair being too late for the early ripening fruits, and as yet the cultivation of late varieties has not made great advance in that region. We find, in all, from one hundred and sixteen contributors, one hundred and twenty-two varieties of Apples, thirty-five varieties of Peaches, eighty-two varieties of Pears, and forty-eight varieties of Grapes. All good, many excellent. We find, also, many...
