Mathematical and Computational Methods in Biology and Finance
With numerical applications to Graph Theory

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | With numerical applications to Graph Theory | _The topic of this book is the mathematical analysis of biological and financial systems. Firstly we develop some methods for analyzing the data that are furnished into matrix form. In particular we analyze the adjacency matrix of some well-known networks in the pertinent literature. We perform a general matrix analysis with the main aim to study the possible linear relationship between the eigenvector associated with...
