Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Some Thoughts on the Scope of Theology and Theological Education: Address Delivered Before the Pastoral Union It ought to seem impossible for the Christian to take any lower ground. It has been a debasing slavery into which the church has allowed herself to be dragged, in trying to adapt herself to the literature and art of the natural man; bowing down to the world-gods in her effort to graft naturalism, classicism, and romanticism upon the Christian stock; striving to regard them as, per se, wholesome and pure products; seeking, through speculative and unscientific expedients, especially through the adoption of accommodating principles, - to make herself comprehensive enough to embrace all this alien brood under her wing. Thus she has destroyed her proper and legitimate headship; sometimes in pure fear of Mephistopheles, sometimes herself captivated by the sensuous, she has allowed the world-spirit to reign over her and mold her thought and service as to God and man. The natural man may yield his fruit in all freedom, but his fruit ought not to be baptized as Christian, unless it agree with the absolute and final teaching of Christ. The true church must have her own canons of art, literature, philosophy, science, based on her Lord's supreme doctrine and ethics. The revolution formally inaugurated for natural science by Bacon, for philosophy by Descartes, by which these pursuits have been liberated from a wrongful thrall to scholasticism, while well intended, was made too broad, by losing sight of the true position of these studies as not handmaidens, but genuine branches of theology, and has resulted in the utter estrangement and independence of all divisions of human learning from their proper...
