W.L.P. (Wolf Legal Publishers), Netherlands, 2013. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Die Waffen nieder! A mere three words established one woman s lasting repute worldwide. The catchwords (translated Lay Down Your Arms!) remain a pious wish to the present day, but they bespoke of who the astounding Bertha von Suttner (1843-1914) was: intrepid, recalcitrant, forthright, and spellbinding. Bertha von Suttner - an Austrian novelist, radical (organizational) pacifist, and the first woman to be awarded the Nobel Peace Prize - was the type of woman the Belle poque needed to turn the destiny of womanhood around. Enthused with the ideas of human progress, liberalism, and individualism, Peace Bertha campaigned passionately against social injustice in whatever shape it presented itself, be this overt militarism, rigid conservatism, the oppression of women, or anti-Semitism. The Hague Peace Conferences of 1899 and 1907 were the undisputable highlights of Bertha s long career as an engaged peace activist. This book focuses on Bertha von Suttner s tenets and aspirations with regard to the emerging international tradition in The Hague. The book captures the gist of her views and ideals by way of hundreds of citations gathered from her memoirs, diaries, and correspondence; the rich yield of her unstoppable scholarly, literary, and journalistic endeavors. This is a fascinating portrait of an intriguing woman and public figure who was a steadfast advocate of women s rights.
