I need not say that the General has had a most eventful and brilliant career as a soldier, and fully deserves the confidence and affection in which he is held by both the army and the nation at large. Here is a INDIAN WITH SCALP. picture showing an interview or great council between Indian chiefs and a Commission from Washington. It is a good and characteristic sketch of one of these famous powwows. Aunt Harriet: I suppose that the Indian question will never seriously interest any but a small proportion of our people; otherwise we might even yet hope to see the Indian department creditably managed. Dr. Paulus: I do not despair altogether of the future of the race, although there are many gloomy aspects of the question. The Church of Christ is grappling with the difficulty with more earnestness...
