His assiduous studies from nature no doubt greatly contributed to the excellence of the cuts in the History of Quadrupeds. Many of the vignettes also, with which this publication was adorned, had uncommon merit as original sketches; for Bewick did not confine his attempts with his pencil to the mere delineation of animals. But Bewick was principally indebted for the great superiority of his productions over those of his predecessors, to an entirely new mode of operation which he introduced into the art. The secret of the old method of cross-hatching, as we have mentioned, had been long lost; or at least it had been entirely abandoned, from the extraordinary difficulty of the only known manner of practising it. But Bewick produced nearly the same effects by another and much simpler contrivance. Till this time the block,...
