Excerpt from The Story of Godfrey Nims: As Read to the Nims Family Association, at Deerfield, Massachusetts, on August 13, 1914 Children of his children, we have come home to tread the soil upon which fell the sweat, tears and blood of our fathers and mothers in those early days of labor, suffering and savage murder. Periods of calm there were too, when the spinning wheels hummed in the primitive homes of this little village and the scythes swung and swished in the golden fields out yonder, and the settlers forgot for a time that the dark bordering forests hid wild beasts fiercer as men but fiercer as fiends. Here, Godfrey Nims builded - and, after fire devoured it, build-ed anew-his home, as pioneers have built and will build while there shall remain a frontier; and he and those about his hearth loved it as we love that for which we have planned and worked. As our minds revive the personality of our common ancestor, that common blood which inseparably links us should thrill in our veins. This Nims lot was, not so long ago the stage upon which was enacted one of those pioneer tragedies too blood-curdling and awful to adequately picture in words the naked Indians - painted demons - slaughtering children by the lurid light of a ?aring home, amid the din of savage yells and the shrieks of terrified women and of children butchered or burned.
