Not illustrated. 1903 Excerpt: .died during two years past directly on account of the operation. (The loss of one some weeks after caponizing, was due more to an oversight in after treatment than to the direct effect of the operation itself). But in order to make sure of killing no birds it is occasionally necessary to leave some with almost the assurance of their developing into slips. Even the most expert professional operators expect to kill a few birds. The excess that the average market prices show over the cost lor food is enough to promise a fair profit, over an ordinary percent of loss, for any reasonable investment of labor, etc. The cost of caponizing, where the services of any expert operator can be obtained is but a few cents per fowl (sometimes as low as four cents). After a fall in the high broiler prices of spring and...
