

The Legend Of Freedom Hill (Paperback)

By Linda Jacobs Altman

Lee Low Books Inc, United States, 2004. Paperback. Condition: New. Cornelius Van Wright, Ying-Hwa Hu (illustrator). Language: English . Brand New Book. In the 1850s, during the time of the California Gold Rush, Rosabel and Sophie become best friends because they are both outsiders. Rosabel is African American and Sophie is Jewish. Rosabel has freedom papers, but her mother, Miz Violet, is a runaway slave. They have escaped to California, where slavery is against the law. But Miz Violet is not completely safe. The Fugitive Slave Act allows runaway slaves to be captured and returned to their owners. When a slave catcher shows up and takes Miz Violet away, it is up to Rosabel and Sophie to put their clever minds together and come up with a way to free Miz Violet once and for all. Using lively language that evokes the West of Gold Rush days, Linda Jacobs Altman has crafted a heartwarming story of love, bravery, and friendship.

Reviews

Without doubt, this is actually the best job by any publisher. It is written in basic phrases instead of difficult to understand. You will like the way the author publishes this publication.

This written publication is fantastic. I am quite late in starting reading this one, but better than never. You will not feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for concerning should you ask me).
