Excerpt: . . . every farm in this country there is raised annually a considerable amount of sorghum. This is grown for the purpose of making syrup. It is a good substitute for the ribbon cane of South Georgia, if we could do no better, but the syrup is nothing like so valuable either for use or in the market as the ribbon cane. Mr. J. M. Martin and some of his neighbors have experimented with the real sugar cane for two or three years, and their success has settled the question as to its being raised successfully in this country He showed us stalks raised this upon poor land with but little manure that shows a yield that is surprising. He says that experience has shown that there can be raised enough cane on one acre to make 200 gallons of syrup. It can be cultivated with...
