

Planning Isn't My Priority

By Julia Cook

National Center for Youth Issues. Paperback. Condition: New. Michelle Hazelwood Hyde (illustrator). 32 pages. Cletus and Bocephus are back! While working on their science fair project on mealworms, they learn to appreciate and understand each others strengths and weaknesses. Creativity needs structure and structure needs creativity. . . and Cletus and Bocephus BOTH need to know how to plan and prioritize! You learn from mistakes and use what you learn, so you don't make those mistakes again. Every time you play a video game, you plan and prioritize to WIN! Planning and prioritizing are two of the most difficult executive function skills for people to master. Planning effectively is the thinking skill that helps an individual develop strategies to accomplish goals. It allows a person to think about completing a task before it is started. Life is all about making choices. Prioritizing effectively helps a person make the best choices possible. Time is a limited commodity. To get the most out of your time and accomplish all that you need to do, you have to be able to plan and prioritize both on a long and short-term basis. This storybook is the second in the Functioning Executive book series....

Reviews

Without doubt, this is actually the best job by any publisher. It is written in basic phrases instead of difficult to understand. You will like the way the author publishes this publication.

This book may be worth buying. I have read and I am confident that I am going to plan to go through it once more in the future. It has been written in an exceptionally easy way and it is simply soon after I finished reading this publication in which it actually altered me, modified the way I believe.
