It is possible, however, that this list may be considerably augmented by species which are, so far, supposed to be confined to the Florida and Texas districts. In general, the enumeration may be accepted as adequately correct, for the species of this class are, more or less, confined to their native localities, as migration, in the stricter acceptation of the term, can scarcely be ascribed to any reptile. Aquatic forms may gain considerable distribution by means of their clement, but beyond that they would encounter obstacles over which wings only could transport them. On the other hand, terrestrial forms would be even more effectually checked in their attempts to extend their original habitat. It is true, however, that a certain species may occur in localities which are separated by apparently insurmountable obstacles, and we can only account for such an instance by the supposition that at one time or other such barriers did not exist. Certain localities of our state are marked either by an entire absence, or a greater abundance of forms. The southern section presents marked features in this respect in aquatic types of Ophidians. Here, also, the alligators are present in greater numbers, while the Testudinata, in general, are almost entirely confined to Southern Louisiana. The hilly parts, the pine-flats and pine hills have each...
