Not illustrated. 1914 Excerpt: .in the various members due to the load and the thrust H acting together. Fig. 63a shows an example of this, (a) shows an arch roof truss hinged at the ends, the load being in tons. The stress diagram (c) is first drawn for the vertical reactions only; this is equivalent to assuming one of the hinges replaced by a roller bearing. This diagram gives the value of F for each member. Taking 10 tons as a unit horizontal load, the diagram (b) is next drawn, the load o 1 being the only external load; in this diagram, of course, the points 1, 2, 3, 2, 1 coincide. This diagram gives the value of U for each member. In these calculations the cross section of each of the members has to be assumed $F U L U-L$ beforehand. The value of--and are next calculated for each member, and the corresponding quantities are all added together, thus enabling H to be calculated according to equation (4). In these summations due allowance must, of course, be made for the sign of the stress. In the present case this calculation gives $H = 167$ tons. A new stress diagram (d) is then drawn from this value of H (i.e., $i-4, 1-4 = 167$ tons), and from this the stresses in the arched truss are found. Reaction Locus for two-pinned Spandril Arch.--If the thrust and reactions be calculated for each node or panel point of the top flange, the reaction...
