Proceedings to be in the simplest form consistent with reasonable certainty. No replication required. When facts are not agreed upon, depositions may be taken on notice, and the work should be entered upon immediately after answer. Assignments for hearing made on request of either party. Parties will be heard orally, or upon briefs, as they prefer. The following letter, which was addressed to an attorney who made inquiry concerning the method of procedure in a case where an answer had been filed raising issues of fact, contains a statement of the practice then adopted and since pursued by the Commission. Washington, D. C, June 15, 1887. James Tillinghast, Esq. , Attorney at Law, 12 South Main St. , Providence, R. I. Dear Sir: --Yours of June 14th received. The rules of the Commission do not require a replication. It is intended that all its proceedings shall be in the simplest form consistent with a reasonable degree of certainty. Cases are considered as at issue, when the answer is filed and copies served. If issues of fact are raised upon the answer by denials, or by allegations of new matter, it is the understanding of the Commission that the case stands for trial upon the questions of fact as well as of law; a day for hearing will be assigned on request of either party; witnesses can then be examined, if necessary, and arguments made upon the law as...
