Excerpt from Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin, Vol. 16: April 1942 But these elements alone do not complete the synthesis that the individual must under go while developing from adolescence through the long period of training into a psychiatrist. Ideally one might wish (if one were compounding a psychiatrist by alchemy) to add these ingredients too: (1) A healthy amount of vigor. (2) Knowledge of fields of thought other than his own. (3) A reasonable acquaintance with nature, science and logic. (4) A sense of wonder and a desire for further knowledge. (5) Respect for the feelings and the spirit of others.
