Excerpt from Passion Week in Rome Fifty Years Ago In the evening I visited the small Church of Caravita, near the Collegio Romano, to witness the scourging scene, which is enacted three times a week during the whole of Lent, and takes place at seven o'clock. First, priests recited the story of the Passion. Then they put out all the lights and shut all the doors. A chorister boy went around offering whips, which consist of two pretty thick thongs. Then, in this mysterious darkness, in this unbroken silence, a priest went to the altar and delivered an impassioned but short sermon about Judas, painting him in dark colors, and declaring that his hearers were still worse than was the faithless disciple, and that they had often betrayed the Lord by thoughts and words. But continuing, he said so can and must it not continue. We must all drive out of our hearts this traitorous Judas spirit. Ye who are burdened with sins, drive out Judas! Thus he cried out in a loud voice, and at once all fell to whipping themselves lustily. In the midst of the noisy procedure, the priest began to pray a penitent prayer, Saviour, Saviour, have mercy upon us! After the scourging, which lasted a short quarter of an hour, the lights were lit again and the litany was sung. The whole scene makes a deep impression. The poor people, mostly from the lowest class, that scourge themselves are certainly not the worst offenders in this Babylon. The whole service, indicating the heart's discontent with itself and its longing after purity and the death of the old nature, represents what the Protestant doctrine of justification...
