Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 92 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. Excerpt from The Palace of Fine Arts: And, the French and Italian Pavillions It is the art side, the architecture, the sculpture, the decorations, the coloring and lighting, that John D. Barry deals with in The City of Domes in a manner that is instructive and entertaining. The book, after it has served its present guide purpose, will have to be consulted for any historical record of the achievement. The pictures are admirable. - New York Sun. Prospective visitors to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be interested in The City of Domes, prepared by John D. Barry in behalf of just such readers. The body of the book describes a walk around the courts and palaces with an architect, thus embodying much interesting information. The introduction discusses the Expositions growth and purpose, and there are clever lists of the features best worth studying, day and night. More than fifty illustrations support the text. - Chicago Herald. Mr. John D. Barry's book on the Exposition may be confidently recommended to visitors who wish not only to see, but to understand, not only to admire, but to know why they admire. There are few who would miss an opportunity to walk through the grounds and courts under the guidance of the artists who planned and executed them, and it is the best possible substitute for such an excursion that Mr. Barry provides. . . Nothing escapes him that is worthy of attention, and his explanations are invariably what they should be and intelligently addressed to intelligent minds. The introduction is devoted to an account of the early development of the Exposition project a most satisfactory feature - while the numerous illustrations are well selected and...
