Handbook of Bibliometric Indicators

By Todeschini, Roberto / Baccini, Alberto

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: Wiley-VCH | Quantitative Tools for Studying and Evaluating Research | At last, the first systematic guide to the growing jungle of citation indices and other bibliometric indicators. Written with the aim of providing a complete and unbiased overview of all available statistical measures for scientific productivity, the core of this reference is an alphabetical dictionary of indices and other algorithms used to evaluate the importance and impact of researchers and their institutions. In 150 major articles, the authors describe all indices in strictly mathematical terms without passing judgement on their relative merit. From widely used measures, such as the journal impact factor or the h-index, to highly specialized indices, all indicators currently in use in the sciences and humanities are described, and their application explained. The introductory section and the appendix contain a wealth of valuable supporting information on data sources, tools and techniques for bibliometric and scientometric analysis - for individual researchers as well as their funders and publishers. | User's Guide Notations and symbols Introduction DICTONARY A: aARCA index to axiomatic approaches to bibliometric indicators B: Balanced Citation Count to byline C: Carbon_h-factor to cyclomatic number D: database citation potential to dynamic discounted cumulated impact E: ECR (expected citation rate) to External Journal Impact...
